NEWPORT NAUCHTINESS. Another Sensation Beyond the Bridge.

The town of Newport was the scene of another sensation this morning. The citi-zens have hardly quieted down from the terrible scene of Sunday, when another, but not quite so aggravated a case, follows right upon its heels. Last night, abou right upon its heels. Last night, about so clock, Barney McGuire, who resides with his family in a frame cottage on Putman street, just south of Williamson, while standing near the corner of the latter streets, noticed a man named Sam. Cunningham approach his (McGuire's) fourteen-year-old daughter, make use of very insulting a make use of very insulting remarks, and fipally take hold of her.
Mr. McGuire hastened to the place, when the girl ran to the house, but Cunningham stood and told McGuire that Mary (the girl) had his ring. The father across stood and tool meeture that Mary (the girl) had his ring. The father at once proceeded to the house, and told his daughter to give the ring up. She denied having it, but said that Cunningham made very improper proposals to her.

The now excited father hastened to the street, but only to see the villain running away. Mr. McGuire at once swore out a warrant, and placed it in the hands of the police. Officers Martzolf and Crighton were detailed to hunt him up, and about 4 o'clock this morning succeeded in arresting him. He was brought before Mayor Harton, but at the prisoner's request the case was postponed until to-mornow morning. A reporter of the STAR visited Cunningham in the jail this morning, and when asked what he had to say, at first denied it in toto, but finally acknowledged the charge.
